ART HUMANITIES

Embracing architecture, sculpture, and painting, the Art Humanities core courses teach students how to view and discuss the visual arts and their place in the history of civilization. Frequent visits to New York's museums, private collections, and architectural sites bring students face to face with many of the world's most celebrated masterpieces. Students learn to respond intelligently to a variety of artistic genres by developing analytical skills and a conceptual framework for interpretation.

GS students must fulfill the Art Humanities requirement by taking one of the following:

- HUMA UN1121 Masterpieces of Western Art (Master Syllabus [https://arthum.college.columbia.edu/sites/default/files/arthum_master_syllabus.pdf])
- AHUM UN2604 Art In China, Japan, and Korea
- AHUM UN2901 Masterpieces of Indian Art and Architecture
- AHUM UN2800 Arts of Islam: The First Formative Centuries (circa 700-1000)

Note: If the art humanities requirement is fulfilled with Masterpieces of Western Art (UN1121), students should not take Barnard Art History 1001 or 1002, as this constitutes a duplication of coursework and thus would not count toward the GS degree.

Exemption from the Art Humanities Requirement

Although all GS students are required to take Art Humanities, in limited circumstances students may be eligible for an exemption from this requirement.

Students requesting an exemption must have completed at least four semester-length Art History Courses (visual arts courses do not qualify) with a grade of C or higher. Coursework must cover multiple historical periods, with at least one course on art of the Renaissance or previous periods, and one course on post-Renaissance art. Students who meet these requirements should submit to their advisors a transcript of previous coursework, a statement explaining why the exemption is requested, and syllabi for all Art History courses completed. Exemption must be requested during the student's first semester at Columbia. Deadlines: November 1 for Fall matriculates, March 1 for Spring matriculates.
